
Each point is one cap fraction; tightening runs from right to left along each arm. Dominance is tested within an arm, separately on each basis.